Certificate in Special Education

Specialized in:

- Autism Spectrum Disorder
- Attention Deficit & Hyperactivity Disorder
- Specific Learning Disabilities
- Intellectual Disabilities
- Applied Behavior Analysis

Overview:

This program can be used to meet requirements for initial certification in generic special education (grades 6-12), and it is also appropriate for teachers seeking advanced professional development. The program emphasizes legal issues, flexible service delivery, comprehensive assessment, evidence-based intervention techniques, and the advanced professional skills necessary to provide effective services to children with high incidence disabilities including language or learning disabilities, emotional/behavioral disorders, attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder, and mild to profound mental retardation. The program prepares both beginning and advanced professionals to teach students with special needs in a variety of educational settings across the early intervention to elementary and middle to high school grades and to take leadership roles in the field of special education.
