Dear Dr. Rhea Mar A. Angtud,

Greetings from the University of San Carlos!

We are pleased to inform you that the USC Cebuano Studies Center in partnership with the National Commission for Culture and the Arts will hold its first Teaching Cebuano Literature: A Seminar for Educators, on July 16-18, 2018 at Rigney Hall, University of San Carlos, Talamban Campus, Cebu City.

The project aims to training teachers and offering them innovative ways and approaches of teaching Cebuano literature. In the light of the reformation in the K-12 curriculum, the center aims to assist in the development of critical reading and teaching of Cebuano literature on the primary, secondary and tertiary levels. It likewise seeks to highlight and foreground issues that reflect the problems that concern teaching such materials and references, translation and others. This is also to inculcate to teachers the importance of interdisciplinary approaches in the study and presentation of materials and texts.

In this regard, the USC Cebuano Studies Center together with NCCA is seeking your assistance to achieve the above for the issuance of a Memorandum Circular from your office to enjoin all Literature Teachers in K-12 to participate in the seminar especially those from the Visayas and Mindanao. The registration fee for the seminar is P 1,500.00 including seminar kit and certificates but exclusive of lunch.

We anticipate your favorable response on our request. Should your office need any clarification, please have your representative contact our Program Coordinator Mr. Raphael Dean Polinar at cebanostudies@gmail.com or by mobile 09273627350.

With our cordial best wishes.

Very truly yours,

Hope S. Banpan Yu, Ph. D.
Director
